Your job is to be on the lookout for a few especially important words in today's reading. If you find words that are puzzling or unfamiliar, mark them while you are reading, and then later jot down their definition. You may also run across other words that stand out somehow – repeated a lot, used in an unusual way, key to the meaning of the text, etc. Be ready to point these words out, too. Figure out a plan of how you want to present these words. Will you read them all to your group? Will you have a race to see who can find the word first? Whatever you do, make sure it helps members find and discuss these words.
